NONG BUALAMPHU

History

Nong Bua Lamphu is a new province with an old background. Although recently established, its history goes back over 900 years. In the beginning it was a sovereign town of Sri Satthana Khana Huth, or Vientiane

Circa 2117 B.E., King Naresuan Maharaj led his army to usurp Lan Chang Kingdom. En route, the King and his army took a hiatus in their march at Nong Bua Lamphu. Before he could have resumed, the King had taken ill with a poxvirus, and had to return to the capital. The area is considered an important site in Thai history.

During the reign of King Thonburi, circa 2310 B.E., Phra Vor, Phra Tha, and their people, evaded Phra Chao Siri Boon Sarn, a sovereign of Vientienne, and resettled at Nong Bua lamphu. Here, Khai Phra Vor, Phra Tha, a fortrees, was erected. (The evidence is revealed on the stone wall on mount Phu Phan). Later on, an army from Vientienne came plundering and left the town in ruins. Nong Bua lamphu remained deserted until King Nang Klao of Chakri Dynasty and Phra Pathum Theva Phiban, governor of Nongkhai, designated Phra Vittha Yodhom Khamuttha Khet to rebuild the town and renamed it

Muang khamuttha Saiya Buri Ram.

After Phraya Vittha yodom, s demise in 2449 B.E., King Chuia Chom klao promoted Phra Vicharn Khamuttha Kith to a governor and gave the town back its old name-Nohg Bua - Lamphu. One year later, the government advanced the status of the town to District of Nong Bua Lamphu.

The Present - day government saw that Amphoe Nong Bua Lamphu, by itself, was large enough to become a province. Amphoes Nong Bua Lamphu, Na Klang, Nong Sang, Si Bun Ruang, and Suwannakhuha were excluded from Udon Thani and reunited to form Nong Bua Lamphu Province. The proclamation on 1 December 1991 brought much happiness to its citizens.

Geographic

Nong Bua Lamphu is located on a plateau of upper I - son. It is the 76th province of Thailand. Its boundaries to the north and east are contiguous with Udon Thani. The south and west border on Khon Kean and loei, respectively. It encompasses an area of about 3,859 km.

General physiography is high plateau intermix with a mountain range to the east. A long range of forested mountain begins at Suwannakhuha District and reaches beyond Muang District all the way to the ranges of Phu Phan in Nong Sang District. The area near Khon Khean is a high plateau that gradually declines as it reaches Na Klang and Si Bun Ruang, s alluvial plains. The area is highly suitable for agriculture.

Administration

Nong Bua Lamphu divides its body of administration into 6 (districts). They are Muang, Nong Sang, Si Bun Ruang, Na Klang, Suwannakhuha, and Na Wang

Attractions

Wat Tham Khlong Paen

As one of the sacred sites in the province, the temple is well - known for its peaceful, forested surrounding. The cave in the temple ground contains an ancient two - faced drum, whence the temple got its name, and a statuesque Buddha image located in a rock alcove. The temple used to serve as a meditational ground for Luang phu khao ( a highly revered vipassana monk of Luang phu Mun line ) until his demise in 1989. A posthumous museum housing his personal belonging and life-size wax figure is located on the premises. The museum opens daily to public for merit-making and homage-paying.

Wat Tham Klong Paen is located in Muang District on High way 210 en route to Nong Bua Lamphu-Udon Thani. From the town, proceed in Udon Thani direction for about 13 km. Turn right into the temple's entrance and continue for about 2 km. The temple can also be reached by local buses running between Nong Bua Lamphu and Udon Thani.

The Shrine and Monument of king Narasuan the Great

The monumental shrine was built to commemorate the great king on the event that he and his army, on the way to Vientienne in 2117 B.E., had stopped by the town. Nong Bua Lampu was then a colony of Hongsawadi Kingdom; and Phra Naresuan journeyed to help King Hongsawadi fight with Sri Saithana Khana Huth (Vientienne). Unfortunately King Naresuan was consumed by dengue fever and consequently returned to Ayutthaya. The monument is situated in Nong Bua Park in front of the district office. An homage-paying ceremony is held annually on the 25 of January.

Thao Tho Waterfall park.

Located on Highway 210 en route to Nong Bua Lamphu-Udon Thani (approx. 3 km. from Udon Thani), the park is shrouded in lush vegetation with peppering of intriguing rock formations. Within the park's proximity is a shrine of Phu Loop, a figure held in regards by the citizens of Nong Bua Lamphu and other passers-by. Ban Khong Sawan Pottery Village.

Approximately 17 km from the province towards Udon Thani (Highway 210), the whole village is exclusively into pottery making. The villagers are descendants of Ban Wang Thua, Amphoe Nam Pong, Khon Kaen province. Their very unique technique in pottery making is the legacy of their forefathers.

Erawan Cave

A large cave with a winding, spiralling staircase of 600 steps from the ground the cave's opening. A big Buddha statue presiding at its entrance can be seen from afar. The cave's interior resembles a hall, whence the local folklore, Nang Phom Hom, or Fragrant-haired lady, originated. The cave contains Magnificent stalagmite and stalactite formations. Erawan cave is located in Na Wang District on Nong Bua Lamphu-Loei route (Highway 210) at Kometres post 13. At approximately 45 Km from town, turn right and continue for about two Km. The cave can be reached by local buses enroute to Nong Bua Lamphu-Loei.

Ancient Shell Deposit or Susarn Hoi Lan Pi

The site is located on a mountain with a 50-meter-high cliff. The shell deposit dates back to late Jurassic period, or about 140-150 million years ago. The fossil remains are of various ammonites still in great condition. Some are quiet and weigh as much as half kilogram. Near the deposit is found a fossilized remains of an ancient crocodile. There were shards of Jamaican rock and other unidentified elements.

Susarn Hoi Lan Pi is located at Ban Huai Dua, Tambol Non Than, Amphoe Muang. From the province, head on Highway 210 to Udon Thani. After about 10 km, turn left and continue for about 500 metre. The site of the deposit can be reached by buses from Nong Bua Lamphu to Udon Thani.

Archaeological Site at Ban Khud Kho Moei and Ban Khud Khwang Soi

These two sites are where the archaeological discoveries of objects were made. The artifacts unearthed are various objects art and pieces of pottery resembling the ones found at Ban Chiang excavation.

The routes to both sites are as follows

1. Ban Khud Kho Moei is located in Tambol Khuddu, Non Sang District. Proceed on Highway 2146 (Nong Bua Lamphu-Non Sang) for about 36 km to Ban Nong Wang. Turn left and continue for about 5 km. The site is also accessible by Nong Bua Lamphu-Non Sang buses.

2. Ban Khud Khwang Soi is on the same route as Ban Khud Kho Moei. Upon arriving, make a right turn, at Ban Nong Wang, and continue for about 7 km, Phu Khao and Phu Phan Kham National Parks

A mountain range stretching from north to south. Phu Khao separates Nong Bua Lamphu from Khon Kaen Province. Phu Phan Khom is the range visible to the east of Nam Pong plain. It offers breathtaking vista of Ubol Ratana Reservoir. To the back of the reservoir is a well-known fishery and fishing spot.

Phu Khao is a meandering, labyrinthine mountain. It is home to a plethora of plants and wildlife. It is also a showroom of many interesting rock formations- some having prehistoric palm- paintings on them. In addition to the amazing natural treasures, there is Wat Phra Buddha Bata Phu Khao, the footprints evoked the folklore Phra Suphrom Vimokha and the Nine-tailed Dog.

To get there, take Highway 2146 to the trisection of Ban Soke Cham. Turn left onto Ban Soke Cham-Ubol Ratana Dam Road. The distance is about 54 km to park office. The park can be reached by local buses running on Si Bun Ruang -

Ubol Ratana Dam route.
